Introduction

Also known as MiaoQian Bing Shi, Hope & Sesame is the first speakeasy cocktail bar in Guangzhou. Tucked away behind a traditional Cantonese cafe in the quaint neighbourhood of Dongshan Kou, the bar is a unique testing ground for cocktail innovation. From liquid clarification and exploration of different ices to sous-vide infusions and distillation, guest will discover a wide repertoire of techniques that ultimately perfect the drink. Behind another secret door within Hope & Sesame, there is the iconic "The Jazz Room," a salon with passionate jazz players congregating nightly to perform lively tunes, and a true sanctuary even for the most discerned jazz enthusiasts.
Its menu Five Years of Hope draws on the bar's most-popular drinks since its launch. From 2016, look out for From Pablo, which features saffron-infused Mancino Rosso, pisco-infused raisins and bitters. For something a little harder, look to 2018 and Spicy Not Spicy, which uses chilli-infused rum, passion fruit, amaro and lime.

or +86 20 2883 2897
Open Hours: 09:00 - 17:30 (closed on Monday), no admission after 16:30

Introduction

An antique architectural complex on the northeast side of Haizhu lake - the new venue of the Guangzhou Cultural Center, which opened to the public in 2023. Situated at the southern end of the city's central axis, this venue was designed as a Lingnan-style garden. The buildings are scattered around the Haizhu lake like stones and assembled into various courtyards, forming a layout of "a garden within a garden". Meanwhile, the typical landscape elements of the Lingnan region, "mountains, rivers, fields, and ponds", are integrated into the design of the venue.
Furthermore, the center integrates public performances, training, exhibitions, creation, research and exchanges, protection and inheritance of intangible cultural heritage, and other functions, which will become a landmark of Guangzhou.

02

Haizhu Wetland

Category: Nature Area

Address: No.168 Middle Xinjiao Road, Haizhu District, Guangzhou
Contact: +86 20 8963 8182
Open Hours: 09:00 - 17:00

Introduction

Haizhu Wetlands Park is located in the Southeast of the Haizhu region and is a rare example of urban wetlands. The park is divided into three major areas. The Haizhu Lake section is combined with a water conservancy project. The first phase of the wetlands is a combination of wetland scenery and Lingnan waterside town culture with characteristic Lingnan arches and ear houses. The second stage focuses on the original wetland ecology, creating a bird paradise on the foundation of the original orchard.

GREATER BAY AREA

Beyond Guangzhou, the Greater Bay Area opens up—scenic escapes, buzzing cities, and hidden gems are just a short ride away via the Shenzhen–Zhongshan Link or the Hong Kong–Zhuhai–Macau Bridge. Adventure is closer than you think—let the journey begin!

Zhuhai

Zhuhai, a coastal jewel on the South China Sea, rests just 36 nautical miles from Hong Kong and neighbours Macau to the south. Linked by the Hong Kong–Zhuhai–Macau Bridge—and only a brief drive from Zhongshan—it is perfectly placed for discovery. Mountains meet rivers, and islands dot the horizon, earning Zhuhai its place among China's "Top 40 National Tourist Attractions."
In Hengqin New Area, innovation thrives across leisure, culture, finance, and technology. Here, natural beauty and modern vitality come together, shaping a city at the heart of the Greater Bay Area.

Shenzhen

Alive with innovation and modern spirit, Shenzhen is China's pioneering special economic zone. Just 45 minutes from Zhongshan through the landmark Shenzhen–Zhongshan Link, it brings together technology, creativity, and global enterprise. The skyline shimmers with bold architecture, while cultural districts, coastal walks, and vibrant shopping streets reveal the city's energy. Once a quiet fishing village, today it is a world-class metropolis — ambitious yet inviting. At every step, Shenzhen blends progress with culture, offering experiences that embody the rhythm and promise of the Greater Bay Area.

Hong Kong

Hong Kong, the most international city in the Greater Bay Area, connects tradition with modernity and the Mainland with the world. Just across the bay from Zhongshan, now even more accessible via the Shenzhen–Zhongshan Link, the city blends glittering skylines with historic temples, quiet harbours with lively shopping streets. Wander through Central, stroll along the Tsim Sha Tsui waterfront, or take in the views over Victoria Harbour.
In every corner, Hong Kong reveals a balance of East and West, inviting travellers to discover its rhythm while feeling unexpectedly at home.
